Outdoor Learning

Outdoor learning is an integral part of children's development, both academic and personal.

The use of places other than the classroom for teaching and learning often provides children with the most memorable learning experiences and helps them make sense of the world around them. These memories will stay with them into adulthood and have a big influence on their values and decisions.

At The Oaks we use the outdoors as much as possible and as the weather improves your children will be out and about as part of class lessons, Academies on a Friday, playtimes and lunchtimes, Forest Schools and of course visits off the premises to support projects.

We ask for your support in funding these visits as without your voluntary contributions visits cannot take place. We understand that in these times of austerity families may struggle to support these "extras" but they are an integral part of our curriculum and essential to the way we learn here at The Oaks.

If families are finding it hard to fund trips please come and speak to me, your concerns will be treated in the strictest confidence.

Thank you for your continued support with our outdoor provision, Mrs Warren.

Those who read succeed!

You will have noticed that we are having a real push on insisting children read every day at home. This is the core homework activity for all families, regardless of the age of the children and should be done every night. Please support your children by checking they have their reading record before they leave the school premises and remember to sign it to say you have heard them read.

Our Book Fair raised £493 in commission that we will be spending on extra reading materials for school. Thank you for your support!

Easter Egg Bingo
Raised £454.60
and the hamper we took down to Asda
raised £527.30
Thank you to everyone who supported the Easter events.

Thursday 21st April

Class photographs
in clean, smart school uniforms please.
This is also our "Tiaras and Bow Tie" day to celebrate the Queen's birthday so please bring your bow ties and tiaras to change into after the photographs have been taken.
Thank you.
