THOSE WHO READ SUCCEED!

Why read 20 minutes at home?

We all want our children to be ahead of the game don't we?

Why would we put them at a disadvantage?

We wouldn't - and yet some parents do. Not you, obviously, but some parents do not listen to their children read regularly at home. Some parents do the reading bit but fail to record it in their child's home reading record so the staff at school don't know to prompt a child to change their book. Children read in school all the time but they need to practice their taught skills at home. They need to develop a love of books to make them life-long readers. Please help our children to make the most of reading every day. Use their Home Reading Record to communicate with their teachers and together we will ensure our children will succeed.

Children who read more at primary school

get better jobs,

have more opportunities in life.....

...and earn more money!

Do the very best you can for your child, it only takes 20 minutes of your time - that is not a lot to ask!
